

FewClix

making email smarter

The Challenge

Did you know that employees spend 30% to 50% of their work day with email, or on average 3.1 hours every day? There is no other activity in the workplace that consumes as much time as this. Did you know that HALF this time can be saved by simply making email smarter?

The Solution

FewClix (for Outlook) is a powerful and fully integrated Add-in for Outlook that delivers Smarter Email with little or no additional effort required from users or IT teams.

FewClix helps employees focus on the most important email-related tasks, eliminates clutter and helps find any email in less than 10 seconds.

Customers have certified that FewClix delivers ROI in less than 30 days and saves over 88% of the wasteful time spent with email. FewClix is also proven to save tens of thousands of productive hours in email usage each year, translating into millions of dollars of savings in productivity cost.

How FewClix Helps

Smarter Email

FewClix empowers users with Actionable Insights, delivering instant answers to important questions like:

- What emails have I received today that are related my critical initiatives?
- What important emails have I NOT responded to today?
- How can I plan my responses to emails I have received from key stakeholders?

Smarter Calendar

FewClix makes it easy and fun to manage your meetings. It highlights meetings you've organized and shows you a snapshot of responses, telling you which participants are expected. It also enables you to manage invitations you've received at the click of a button.
